

6. But the wicked will certainly perish;
they will vanish, as smoke blows away.
And the foes of the LORD will be scattered,
like the flow'r of the field in a day.
The ungodly retain what they borrow,
but the just give with generous hand.
For those blest by the LORD will inherit,
while the cursed are cut off from the land.

7. If the LORD takes delight in a person,
he will render his steps firm and sure.
Though he stumble, he will not fall headlong,
for the LORD's hand will keep him secure.
All my life I have not seen the righteous
left forsaken or begging for food.
They are always prepared to lend freely,
and their children will share what is good.

8. If you turn back from sin and act rightly,
you will ever continue secure;
for the LORD shows his love to the righteous;
those who trust him he'll ever preserve.
The obedient will not be forsaken,
but the line of the wicked will fail.
To the righteous the land will be given,
and forever will they in it dwell.

9. From the mouth of the righteous comes wisdom;
words of justice proceed from their lips.
For the law of their God is within them
and ensures that their foot never slips.
The unjust lie in wait for the righteous;
to destroy them is always their thought.
But the LORD will not let them be mastered,
or condemned when to court they are brought.

10. On the LORD wait with great expectation;
in his ways you should always remain.
To inherit the land he will lift you;
you will see when the wicked are slain.
I have witnessed the wicked and ruthless spreading forth like a tree in the ground.
But he soon passed away and was nothing;
though I searched, he was not to be found.

11. Watch the blameless, consider the upright;
there's a future for those who make peace.
But destruction awaits the rebellious,
and their future will suddenly cease.
From the LORD comes the hope of the righteous,
and in trouble defense for the meek;
so the LORD saves them all from the wicked,
for in him their protection they seek.

21. To what will this fire reduce the wicked?

"And ye shall tread down the wicked; for they shall be _____ under the _____ of your _____ in the _____ that I shall do this, saith the Lord of hosts." Malachi 4:3

NOTE: The wicked are to be utterly destroyed - consumed away into smoke, brought to ashes. Having inseparably allied themselves with sin, they have forfeited the right to life and an immortal existence, and chosen the way of death and destruction. By their choice they have proved themselves worthless. For this reason they are compared to chaff, briars, thorns, etc. Their destruction will consequently be no real loss.

"They will themselves have lost their opportunity to obtain eternal life; but by the way in which they used their probationary time they proved themselves unworthy of it. Their destruction will, in fact, be an act of love and mercy on the part of God; for to perpetuate their lives would only be to perpetuate sin, sorrow, suffering, and misery. Terrible, therefore, as this judgment will be, there will, in consequence of it, be nothing of value lost, nothing lost worth saving. The experiment of sin will be over, and God's original plan of peopling the earth with a race of holy, happy beings will be carried out. 2 Peter 3:13

22. What is this final destruction of the wicked called?

"This is the second _____." Revelation 20:14

23. After the burning day, what will appear?

"Nevertheless we, according to His promise, look for new _____ and a new _____, wherein dwelleth righteousness." 2 Peter 3:13

24. Where will the righteous then be found?

"Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the _____ of their _____." Matthew 13:43

25. What promise of the Saviour will then be fulfilled?

"Blessed are the meek: for they shall _____ the _____." Matthew 5:5 See also Psalms 37:11,29; Isaiah 65:17-25; Daniel 7:18

26. What universal song of praise will then be sung?

"And every creature which is in heaven, and on the earth, and under the earth, and such as are in the sea, and all that are in them, heard I saying, _____, and _____, and _____, and _____, be unto Him that sitteth upon the _____, and unto the _____ forever and ever." Revelation 5:13

Do Not Fret On Account Of The Wicked Authors: OPC/URCNA 2016

1. Do not fret on account of the wicked,
do not envy the ones who do wrong;
for like grass they will very soon wither,
like green plants they will not flourish long.
Put your trust in the LORD and be upright;
then secure in the land you will live.
Take delight in the LORD above all things—
the desires of your heart he will give.

2. Let your way to the LORD be committed;
trust in him—he will do what is right.
He brings righteousness forth as the morning,
and his justice as bright noonday light.
So be silent and seek the LORD's presence,
and be patient until he replies;
do not fret when you see those who prosper
if their schemes are promoted through lies.

3. Do not fret, it leads only to evil;
hold your temper and stay far from wrath,
for the wicked will certainly perish,
while the godly inherit the earth.
Yet awhile and the wicked will vanish;
though you search, they will never be found.
But the land will belong to the humble,
and their welfare and peace will abound.

4. Tho' the wicked may strike at the righteous,
and their teeth they may gnash in their hate;
yet the Lord simply laughs at the wicked,
for he sees the approach of their fate.
Tho' the wicked take aim at the righteous,
and attempt to bring down the oppressed,
yet their bow will be broken in pieces,
and their sword will but pierce their own breast.

5. Tho' the righteous have little, it's better than the riches of many unjust;
for the wicked's strong arm will be broken,
but the LORD is the righteous one's trust.
Day by day cares the LORD for the blameless,
so their heritage stands ever sure.
When a famine comes, they will have plenty,
and in drought they will always endure.
